Career Detection the Workshop

Marino Institute, Dublin

24 January 2009

Are you in the right career? *One in two aren't...

I wrote the book Career Detection to help remove the sense of mystery behind the complex job of choosing and managing careers. Most people start the process without the slightest idea of what they want and what they are looking for. I have been running career workshops internationally for the last 12 years.

Our Career Planning and Job Search workshop will help by giving you:

- The self-driven process described in the book Career Detection.
- A way to inventory your skills and expertise —the passport to your future career and dream job in recessionary times.
- A clear sense of what drives you in your career choices.
- Realistic directions based on your interests
- A practical method for realising your career dreams.

Participants on our workshops will receive a copy of the relevant book, workbook and other relevant resources.

Call if you have any queries: 041 988 4035
We also do one-to-one career and interview coaching

Be Interview-wise: The Workshop

Marino Institute, Dublin

31 January 2009

Are your interviews getting you the job or the Dear John/Jane letter?

Be Interview-wise was written in response to an overwhelming demand for a book that would provide a way of improving interview performance significantly. It was developed as a result of over 10 years experience in coaching both interviewers and interviewees!

Our Interview-wise workshop will help by giving you:

- A reliable and thorough way to prepare your interviews
- Practical tips on concise presentation.
- Strategies for dealing with nerves
- Resources to deal with competency and structured interviews
- A realistic method for evaluating your performance.

The workshops are led by Brian McIvor who has trained over 3000 people in Ireland, Europe and the USA in career development. He has written and developed material especially for European conditions.
